TEACHING, LECTURING, POSTGRADUATE SUPERVISION

Teaching from 1990-2001 at the University of New South Wales (UNSW)

My main achievements in teaching at UNSW were that in 1991 I founded and developed the creative writing initiative in the School of English, and introduced courses in creative writing at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels. In these courses I taught fiction, poetry and experimental genres, but I also introduced innovations such as writing in the electronic media and writing for performance. My teaching was technical and theoretical in emphasis, and involved the development of my own system for teaching creative writing, documented in my book, The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing, Allen and Unwin, 2005. At UNSW I also taught in a wide range of other areas, and extensively in the area of 20th century poetry.

Undergraduate teaching at UNSW

1991: conceived, initiated and coordinated two undergraduate creative writing courses, Creative Writing A and B, on which I was also the main lecturer and tutor. These courses were repeated every year subsequently: due to expansion in this area Creative Writing B was after 1999 taught by a new staff member Dr. Anne Brewster. These courses were a new initiative within the School of English, UNSW, and consistently attracted very high enrolments, on average about 100 students per course.

1991, 1993, 1996: designed and taught another 3 credit point undergraduate course Image, Text and Performance: form and meaning in contemporary poetry. This course concentrated on experimental poetry. It included sound and visual poetry, mixed media work, performance art and Language Poetry, and explored the roots of these movements in Dada, Surrealism and Cubism.

1993, 1994, 1995, 1996, 1998, 1999: jointly taught (with Suzanne Eggins) a new first year course, Factual and Creative Writing.

1999: taught a new General Education course, Factual and Creative Writing, together with part-time lecturer Juliet Marr.

Other undergraduate lectures given at UNSW include:

1990, 1991: English 1000 lectures in 1990 and 1991 on Joyce, Athol Fugard and The Thirties.

1990 and 1992: lectures for the upper level course, Twentieth Century Women Writers, on Sylvia Plath and Adrienne Rich.

1998: two lectures on Gertrude Stein for the course Twentieth Century Women Writers.

1998: a lecture on my own creative work, as part of the course Twentieth Century Australian Women's Writing.

1990-1999: tutoring at first year and upper level in the areas of 20th century women's writing, 19th century literature, the study of genre, colonialism, critical theory, literature of the 1930s, literature of the 1890s, creative writing and factual writing.

Postgraduate teaching at UNSW

1992, 1993 and 1996: MA seminars in critical theory on the subjects of Russian Formalism, Postmodernism and American Deconstruction.

1993-1999: I initiated, constructed and coordinated a Fourth Year Honours/MA Pass course in Creative Writing on which I was the main teacher. This course ran successfully in 1994, 1995, 1996, 1998. In 1999 I jointly taught the course with Dr. Anne Brewster.

2000: Dr. Anne Brewster and I set up a new major initiative in the School of English, the MA in Creative Writing. This proved successful and was continued each year afterwards.

Postgraduate supervision at UNSW

1993: supervisor of a fourth year honours thesis by Andrew Banks, Infiltrating the Literary Fortress: a demystification of the writing process.

1995: supervisor of a fourth year honours thesis by Michael Clarke, A Moral or Immoral: Aspects of the American Dream in Bret Easton Ellis's American Psycho.

1995 and 1999: co-supervisor for Barbara Bursill (enrolled for MA Hons) on the mirror image in Australian women's poetry.

1995 -1998: co-supervisor for Sarah Gleeson-White. Gained PhD in 1998. Thesis on the grotesque in the novels of Carson McCullers. This has been published subsequently as a book by University of Alabama Press.

1995 –1999: co-supervisor for Louise Wakeling. Gained PhD in 1999. Watermarks: Creative Writing Thesis. This was the first creative writing PhD at UNSW.

1996: supervisor for one semester for Kerry Lyons. Fourth year honours thesis on creative writing and personal poetry.

1997: supervisor for Greg Lyons. Fourth year honours thesis on e.e.cummings.

1997: supervision for Graham Caldow. Fourth year honours thesis on Gertrude Stein.

1998: supervisor for Judy McLallen. Fourth year honours thesis on contemporary Jewish Australian Writing.

1998 -1999: supervisor for Tony Magnusson. Fourth year honours thesis. Creative Writing and post-critical thesis.

1999: supervisor for Morgan Stewart : MA Hons. Creative Writing thesis.

1999: temporary supervisor for Luisa Webb. MA Hons thesis on Sylvia Plath.

1999: supervisor for Anna Chevalier. Fourth year honours thesis on Paul Auster.

1998 and S1 1999: supervisor for Jane Fitzroy-Brown. MA Hons Creative Writing Thesis.

Teaching from 2002 at the University of Canberra

My role at the university was as a research fellow but I participated in some teaching activities at undergraduate and postgraduate level.

Undergraduate teaching at UC

2002 and 2003: I gave a lecture “Experimental Writing: Linguistic and Structural Experimentation” in the subject Poetry and the Imagination.

2003: I gave a lecture “Memory, Fictocriticism, Multimedia, Collaboration” in the subject Contemporary Cultural Practice 5562.

2004. I gave a lecture on writing, theory and research for Contemporary Cultural Practice 5562.

2005 and 2006. I gave a lecture on writing and new media for Interactive Narrative Practice, 6115.

Postgraduate teaching at UC

2002, 2003, 2004: I took a seminar on the topic “Memory, Fictocriticism, Collaboration” in three consecutive years in the postgraduate subject Creative Communication: Cultural Theory, Literature and Film.

Postgraduate supervision at UC

2002-2007: I was supervisor on a number of supervisory panels in the School of Creative Communication. I was a panel member for Liz Crowley who graduated in 2004 with an MA, and a panel member for Sue North who graduated with a PhD in 2005. I was also a panel member for PhD students Elanna Lowes Herbert and Sally Berridge, both of whom were awarded the degree.

I acted as primary supervisor, during Maureen Bettle’s absence in Semester 2, 2003, for Liz Crowley and Elanna Lowes Herbert.

Undergraduate Teaching from 2007 at Western Sydney University

2008: Lecture on Harold Pinter in a first year course English, Text and Writing for the School of Humanities and Languages, Penrith Campus 2008.

2009 and 2010: Lectures on the poetry of Charles Bernstein at both the Bankstown and Penrith Campuses.

1995: my book poetry Abstractly Represented was a set book on the course Gender, Sexuality and the Body at Charles Sturt University, Bathurst, where I was invited as guest lecturer.

RESEARCH AND CREATIVE WORK (OUTLINE)

My research interests have spanned the areas of contemporary literature, in particular 20th and 21st century American literature, the poetry of Frank O'Hara, contemporary poetry, performance, intermedia relationships, electronic literature, improvisation, computerized text generation, the creative process and creative writing pedagogy and the contemporary literature-music relationship.

I am active in creative writing in the areas of poetry, experimental writing, short prose, performance work, multi-media work and electronic literature. I am particularly committed to the idea of bringing creative work and research together in the university environment. My work combines practice-based research and research-based practice, so that the creative work is both driven by, and leads into, research outcomes.

I am a founder member of the multimedia arts group austraLYSIS, which has received grant assistance from the Arts Council UK and the Australia Council. The group has performed extensively in Europe, Asia and Australasia, has been featured in many broadcasts and has published CDs as well as numerous multimedia works on the Internet.

EDITING

From 2003-2006 I was founder editor of infLect: a journal of multimedia writing which I initiated in 2003 and ran from the School of Creative Communication, University of Canberra. The journal features many of the frontrunners in digital writing internationally, and was the first journal of its type in Australia.

From 2008 I have been founder co-editor, with Roger Dean, MARCS Auditory Laboratories, Western Sydney University, of a new journal called SoundsRite: an online journal of sound and writing based at Western Sydney University, <http://soundsrite.uws.edu.au/>. This is a joint venture between MARCS and the Writing and Society Research Centre. The journal showcases the work of highly reputable new media artists internationally.

CHAIRING CONFERENCE KEYNOTE SESSIONS

2003: I was invited to introduce the keynote speaker, Bob Perelman, at the Association of Australian Writing Programs conference, University of New South Wales, Sydney.

2004: I was invited to introduce the key speaker, Charles Bernstein, at the Contemporary Writing Environments conference at Brunel University, London.

2014: I introduced filmmaker and curator Sarah Tremlett at an event about poetry film at the South Bank Poetry Festival, London.

REFEREEING

I have refereed articles for many journals including Text, Australasian Journal of American Studies, Journal of the Association for the Study of Australian Literature, New Writing: the international journal for the theory and practice of creative writing, Traffic and Philament.

I have also been reader for a number of manuscripts for publishers including Routledge.

I have examined numerous PhD theses at universities such as Sydney University, Curtin University, Griffith University, University of New South Wales and Edith Cowan University.

STUDY LEAVE while at UNSW

1994: January and February Study Leave. March to July SSP, including a period as visiting scholar at the University of California, Berkeley.

1996: August to December SSP, December to February Study Leave. Visiting lecturer at King's College, University of London.

2000: March to July study leave at University College, London.

ADMINISTRATION

Prior to my academic career I had long-term experience as administrator for the contemporary music group Lysis. This involved organising publicity, and arranging rehearsal and travelling schedules for international concert tours and promotions.

1991-2001: Served on numerous occasions on departmental committees such as the management committee, the creative writing committee, the postgraduate committee and the late-essay committee in the School of English, University of New South Wales.

1992 and 1993: Committee Member for the New Zealand and Australian Society for American Studies.

1996 and 1999: School of English, UNSW, grievance officer.

1996: Member of School of English, UNSW, committee for reconsidering first year and upper level courses.

1997-1999: Served on the University Arts Collective Committee, UNSW.

1998: Member of School of English Selection Committee, UNSW, for a temporary member of staff to teach Creative Writing.

1998: Member of School of English Selection Committee, UNSW, for a new staff member.

1999: Organised the School of English display for parents evening, UNSW, with Anne Brewster.

1999: School of English seminar organizer, UNSW.

1999: Member of a Vice Chancellor's Forum to discuss the setting up of a task force that would consider issues related to enterprise bargaining.

2000: Member of School of English subcommittee to formulate workloads, UNSW.

1990-2001: Convenor of the undergraduate course Creative Writing A, School of English, UNSW.

1990-1999: Convenor of the undergraduate course Creative Writing B, School of English, UNSW.

2000-2001: Joint convenor of the MA in Creative Writing, School of English, UNSW.

1989-present: Public Officer for austraLYSIS productions.

2001: Organised a visit to UNSW (including two seminars) by poet and academic Susan Schultz from the University of Hawaii.

2002: Member of School of Creative Communication committee, UC, for development of the creative project for the undergraduate course Narrative and Interactive Project, also the subject of a successful teaching and learning grant application written by Dr. Jen Webb and Dr. Greg Battye.

2003: Member of School of Creative Communication Committee, UC, to decide revised gold book rules for postgraduate theses with a strong emphasis on creative work.

2002-2004: Deputy Director for the University of Canberra Centre for Writing. As Deputy Director I set up a website for the Centre for Writing which included profiles of the UC Centre for Writing committee members, news about current events and publications, and also useful links to publications and multimedia sites elsewhere. The site, which was regularly updated, hosted the newsletter of the Association of Australian Writing Programs.

As Deputy Director of the UC Centre for Writing I also organized visits by writers, including American multimedia writer Mark Amerika who gave a staff seminar and an Arts Wednesday talk; distinguished American poet Bob Perelman, who gave the Maria Glyn Daniel lecture; and American multimedia writer Jason Nelson who gave an undergraduate lecture on the undergraduate course "Narrative and Interactive Practice". I also arranged a two-week length sabbatical visit by Joy Wallace, Senior Lecturer at Charles Sturt University, Bathurst, and a seminar by Anne Brewster, University of New South Wales. These visitors networked with members of the School of Creative Communication, creating valuable national and international connections in the school, especially in the emergent area of digital writing.

As Deputy Director of the UC Centre for Writing I organized a number of Arts Wednesday events for writers including Mark Amerika, Libby Gleeson and Julie Jensen, and the Maria Glyn-Daniel lecture 2003. I also organized a reading as part of the ACT Writers' Centre Turn The Page Literary Festival at the National Library in 2003.

As Deputy Director of the UC Centre for Writing I set up and edited the journal infLect (see EDITING section) of which there were three volumes. I also organized the launch of the journal in May 2003 by Ian Templeman in the UC Council Room.

2005-6: Committee member for the Cultural Studies of Australasia Association Conference in December 2006 at the University of Canberra.

2005-2006: Committee member for the Travel/conference fund, School of Creative Communication, University of Canberra.

2007: Member of the Research and Higher Degrees Committee at the University of Western Sydney.

2009: Organised visit by poet, critic and editor Susan Schultz from the University of Hawaii.

2010: Judge on committee for 3-minute thesis competition, College of Arts, UWS.

2010: A member of the appointments committee for the Research/Lectureship in Literature at UWS (November).

2007-2016: At Western Sydney University I have been an assessor on numerous Confirmation of Candidature panels, and was Chair of the Panel in Lucy Neave's COC in 2010.

2011: Member of College of Arts Working Party UWS (chaired by Hart Cohen) to revise the guidelines for the DCA.

2011, 2013, 2015: Took part in the Creative Ecologies postgraduate event and also gave talks as part of the event.

2012-16: Member of the Writing and Society Executive committee.

2013-2016: Member of the Editorial Board of The Sydney Review of Books, University of Western Sydney.

2014: Member of subcommittee for the (US-based) Electronic Literature Organisation.

2014 and 2015: Took part as a mentor in speed mentoring sessions at Western Sydney University.

WORK IN THE COMMUNITY

I have taken part in many public performances, literary festivals and other events that have impacted on the broader community: these are mainly listed elsewhere under other headings. The following items are other additional ways I have contributed to the broader community.

1993: Judge of visual poetry competition, Regional Poetry Festival, Wollongong.

2002: I represented the “Poets for Peace” project by delivering a bounded volume of peace poems written in Australia to Parliament House, Canberra together with writer Anne Edgeworth. A worldwide project, “Poets for Peace” involved the online publication of poems by poets all over the world before the 2nd Gulf War. The collection of poems that we delivered was officially received by the “Pollies Against War” committee in the courtyard at Parliament House, Canberra.

September 2002: I was one of the judges of the National Australian Poetry Performance competition at Balmain Town Hall, Sydney.

April 2003: I was invited to be guest artist on the empyre email discussion list, which is based at COFA, University of New South Wales, but links digital artists internationally. This involved leading discussion topics with other new media artists and critics for two weeks.

October 2007. I gave the book launch speech for Joanne Burns’s An Illustrated History of Dairies, Giramondo Publishing.

2008. Chair of the Creative Scholarship panel, Writing and Society Research Group, State Library.

October 2010. I took part in austraLYSIS workshops at Surrey University and Goldsmith’s College, UK.

September 2010. Multimedia collaborations with Roger Dean (“Instabilities 2” and “Clay Conversations”) installed at the Biodiversity and the Arts event at the Australian Museum as part of the Sydney Consortium initiative.

2014. Inclusion of my writer’s notebook and profile in the Tapa Notebook Collection in the New Zealand Electronic Poetry Collection:

BRIEF SUMMARY OF PREVIOUS MUSICAL CAREER AND ACHIEVEMENTS IN THE MUSICAL PROFESSION

I started to learn the violin at the age of five—early achievements in music included appearing as soloist with the National Youth Orchestra of Great Britain in Israel and Greece and on BBC television at the age of fourteen, and appearing as soloist with the BBC Northern Orchestra and the Northern Sinfonia Orchestra in Britain at the age of fifteen. In 1973 I was awarded a prestigious Martin Musical Fund Scholarship for further study. From 1955 to 1973 I studied the violin with many eminent musicians including my mother Eta Cohen, Norbert Brainin, leader of the Amadeus String Quartet, eminent Hungarian soloist Gyorgy Pauk and Szymon Goldberg, conductor of the Netherlands Chamber Orchestra.

From 1974 until 1988 (and spasmodically after that until 1996) I worked as a professional performing musician. I have given performances, broadcasts and television appearances in many countries both in ensembles and as soloist, including numerous performances in Europe, Asia and Australasia, and on commercial recordings. I was director of the chamber music ensemble Sonant, and leader of the contemporary music group Lysis: these were both internationally active groups. With Lysis and Sonant I toured on behalf of the British Council in several parts of the world including Hong Kong, India, Indonesia and the Philippines. I appeared at numerous music festivals including the World Music Days of the International Society of Contemporary Music in Aarhus Denmark and the Nettlefold Festival of New Music in London. I also appeared as soloist at the Harrogate and Aldeburgh Festivals (UK) and in a concert of chamber music by Stockhausen, in the presence of the composer, on the South Bank in London. I specialised in 20th century composed music, premiered numerous pieces by contemporary composers, and also participated (though to a lesser degree) in improvisation and jazz. On tours of Australasia, prior to becoming an Australian resident, I performed at the Sydney Opera House and for the ABC in Sydney, as well as at other venues.

Besides solo chamber music and new music performance, I was a member of the Philharmonia Orchestra in London for several years, and worked extensively with the London Sinfonietta, a world-leading new music chamber orchestra.

As part of Lysis I was engaged for workshops on musical appreciation, performance and improvisation in numerous universities and colleges in Europe, Asia and Australasia. These included Victoria University of Wellington in New Zealand; Hong Kong University; Derby College of Further Education; Welsh College of Drama and the Arts Cardiff; University of Swansea; University of Trondheim, Norway; several educational institutions in India and a residency at the Department of Music, University of Auckland, New Zealand, 1987.

My commercial recordings as a violinist include:

Two CDs of chamber music by Milhaud, including music for violin and piano, played by Sonant; KNEW CD 305 and 306. Also on LPs.

“The Debris of All Certainties” violin and percussion with austraLYSIS on Arc of Light JAD CD 1050

“Kakadu” by Colin Bright with Laura Chislett, flute, Arc of Light, Jade JAD CD 1050.

Windows in Time, Tall Poppies Records (works by Lyell Cresswell and Xenakis)

The Solo Trumpet with Lysis: Soma 781 (work by Christian Wolff)

Dualyses: Soma 782 (free improvisations)

Lysis Plus: Mosaic GCM 791 (compositions with improvisation)

Superimpositions : Soma 783 (improvisations; some with performance procedures).

I participated in approximately 50 commercial recordings as a member of the Philharmonia Orchestra in London.

Favourable press comments were made about my solo performances as violinist in many leading British newspapers including in The Times, The Sunday Times, The Guardian, The Daily Telegraph and The Financial Times, the specialist journal The Strad, and numerous other Asian, European and Australasian newspapers.
